NO. 32

DEATH OF DR. B. B. NIXON

EDWIN MUMMERT CRUSHED TO DEATH BY FALLING TREE.

A Well Known Veteran of Arendtsville Mustered Out of Life.

Dr. Henry Barber Nixon, Alumni Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy in Gettysburg College for the past quarter of a century, died at his home on Carlisle street on Thursday morning at the age of 58 years, 6 months and 21 days. Death was due to the results following a stroke of paralysis. Dr. Nixon was enjoying unusual good health until last December when he was stricken by paralysis while seated in a chair at his home. While he rallied he was never able to resume his duties at College and dropsical conditions developing hastened the end.

Henry Barber Nixon, a native of North Carolina, of English descent, was born at Winfall, September 9, 1857, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nixon. He prepared for college at Hertford Academy. When he finished his course there he entered the University of North Carolina and graduated from the Civil Engineering Department of that institution in 1882. The next four years were spent in teaching in North Carolina and in profitable private study. He went to Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in 1882, to pursue graduate study, holding a scholarship until 1884, and a fellowship for the next year, teaching mathematics in connection with the latter. He was a fellow from 1885 to 1887 and received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1886. The next year he extended this post-graduate work to applied electricity. In 1888 Prof. Croll, who occupied the chair of mathematics and astronomy in Gettysburg College, was taken ill and Dr. Nixon was appointed instructor in his department during his enforced absence. After Prof. Croll's death, Dr. Nixon was elected to the full professorship which he held up to the time of his death.

When the athletic field at college was planned in the early nineties, Dr. Nixon gave most valuable aid and tireless work in connection with its plans and construction. In recognition of his services and to show the students' appreciation of his interest in the playground was named "Nixon Field."

Dr. Nixon impressed his students and all with whom he came in contact as being not only an enthusiastic student of the branches he taught but also a master of them and one of the distinguishing traits was his genial personality. The college boys looked upon him as a friend who understood boys and his advice has been sought by hundreds of young men while he taught here. Years ago he became known to the boys as "Poppy" Nixon, a term that expressed the affectionate relations between Dr. Nixon and the boys. This genial personality impressed itself upon every one with whom he came in contact, winning him a host of friends. His remarkable hold on the affections of the boys was yearly demonstrated by the fact that when former students returned to Gettysburg Dr. Nixon was the one member of the Faculty that was specially sought out and his welcome and interest in the alumni contributed to hold their loyalty, and when the alumni a few years ago chose a chair to be known as the Alumni Professorship, the sentiment was practically unanimous to give it to his chair, not by reason of the subjects taught, but the genial personality of the man occupying it.

May 22, 1880, Dr. Nixon married Kate Virginia Hay, of Philadelphia, whose parents, Alexander and Magdalen Ilgenfritz Hay, were originally from York. She survives together with one son, Thomas Hay Nixon, a student at the United States Military Academy at West Point. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters, Dr. James W. Nixon of Chulueta, Florida, Thomas Nixon, Miss Mollie Nixon, and Miss Harriet Nixon of Winfall, North Carolina. The funeral will be held at 2:30 on Monday afternoon from the home, and services will be conducted by Rev. W. B. Hooper and Dr. A. E. Wagner, interment in Evergreen Cemetery. The flag on Pennsylvania Hall was placed at half mast Thursday morning as soon as the news of Dr. Nixon's death was received at the College.

Edwin Mummert, a resident of Hamilton township, met with a tragic death on last Saturday. He was felling a large hemlock tree which rolled over on him after it had been felled and he was literally suffocated to death before he could be rescued by fellow workmen. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mummert, had taken part in the spelling match in Gettysburg last spring, winning second place and had been during the past year an Adams county school teacher, having had charge of Oak Wood School, and was in his 33rd year.

The distressing accident occurred between 10 and 11 o'clock on the farm of G. Allen Yohe, clerk to the County Commissioners. Young Mummert with his brothers and several other young men had been engaged in cutting down a large tree which stood on the banks of the Big Coneyago. The tree was felled successfully and they then commenced to trim off the limbs. As one of the limbs fell under the strokes of the axe, the weight of the main body of the tree was released and it bore down on the men. All got out of the way except the unfortunate Mummert youth who was crushed beneath it, his body being doubled up and his respiration almost entirely cut off. Frantic efforts were at once made to release him from his perilous position, and the others finally did succeed in getting him out from under the ponderous timber. His heart was still beating when he was finally released, but death occurred in a few moments. The body was tenderly carried to the Yohe house but was later in the morning removed to the Mummert home on the adjoining farm.

Young Mummert was one of the most promising fellows in the eastern part of the county. He was graduated from the Abbottstown High School last year and was teacher of Oak Wood School, Reading township, for the past term. He attained considerable prominence at the time of the county spelling match last spring by riding on a bicycle from Abbottstown to Gettysburg, and return. His efforts were rewarded when he won second prize in the final spell-down. He was a stalwart youth, of fine physique, and mental powers, and his death is most untimely. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mummert, and these brothers and sisters: George, Andrew, Daniel, Margaret, Beulah, Nettie, and Mary, at home, and Mrs. Annie Staub of New Oxford.

Aaron Freed, a Civil War veteran, who was present at the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox Court House, died in Arendtsville, aged 72 years and 19 days. Mr. Freed was a well known citizen of the upper end of the county having been a resident of Franklin township for many years prior to his removal to Arendtsville three years ago. He sustained a stroke of paralysis Monday of last week and his left side remained paralyzed. Before that he had been confined to the house by an attack of pleurisy, but had apparently recovered when he suffered the stroke. At first he retained consciousness but gradually showed signs of losing strength and the end came Sunday morning. He was a native of Maryland, having been born near Silver Run, March 7, 1842, and when a boy his parents moved to Franklin township where he followed the occupation of farming. He was for seven years constable of the township. He was a life member of Calvary United Brethren Church, Cashtown, and was always interested in church work. About three years ago Mr. Freed sold his farm and removed to Arendtsville where he has since resided. Soon after the battle of Gettysburg Mr. Freed enlisted in Company B, 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry and later served as an infantryman. He was in the army a period of 18 months in which time he participated in 19 engagements among which were Cold Harbor and Petersburg, and he was present at the surrender of General Lee. His wife, who was formerly Miss Sara Khouse, and four children survive him: Harry E. Freed of Tacony, Phila.; Mrs. Sherman Crone of York; Sherman Freed of Seven Stars, and Edward Freed of Barker, N. Y. Two brothers, George Freed of Bendersville and David Freed of Mt. Alto, also survive. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Reformed Church, Arendtsville, by Rev. Mr. Denlinger, assisted by the Rev. T. C. Hoeson, and the Rev. D. T. Koser. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery, Arendtsville.

Adam C. Miller, a retired farmer, died at his home in Hampton, March 27, after having been sick for a long time. He was confined to bed for the last 12 days. He was about 80 years old. Surviving him are his wife and the following children: Mrs. William Weaver of Hampton, and Mrs. Peter Brown of near Hampton.

John Trostle, who two weeks ago was found unconscious in a shed in the barn yard, where he had been shelling corn, died last Friday night of paralysis. He had not regained consciousness since being stricken. He was 69 years, 10 months and 14 days old. Three children, Mrs. Edith Boyer of Hanover, Mrs. Jennie Stambaugh of Paradise township, and Miss Minerva at home, and one brother, H. A. Trostle, of Harrisburg, survive him. He was a retired farmer. The funeral was held Tuesday morning, services at the Mummert Meeting House by Rev. C. L. Baker, interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Miss Lydia Shank died at her home in Chambersburg on Sunday aged 66 years, 11 months and 12 days. Miss Shank was one of the folklore medical and surgical practitioners who retained her believers and clientele through all the arguments and attacks of modern science. Even during her last illness she was called upon to aid the afflicted by her gift. She was accredited with the ability of "trying" or powwowing and thus making astonishing cures. She was familiarly known as "Aunt Lydia" and believed by her adherents to be especially efficacious among afflicted children. From far and near the suffering came to "Aunt Lydia" to be administered to, especially victims of rheumatism. Her "healing powers" were always spoken of with great reverence by those who gave her their unyielding faith. She never solicited money from her patients, accepting such gratuities as they chose to leave with or send to her. She

Fine Entertainment by Seniors.

The Senior Class of the Gettysburg High School gave an excellent entertainment on Thursday evening at Walter's Theatre in the production of the comedy, "The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown." They not only covered themselves with glory but reflected the thorough training received from Miss Helen Cope. The presentation was exceptional in that those taking parts spoke so that they could all be clearly heard and they were so well-trained that their acting reflected the confidence of their training. The difficult scenes were well developed and the funny situations were cleverly handled. The entire house was sold the first day the chart was opened and the audience was delighted with the entertainment showing their appreciation again and again in hearty applause.

The cast of characters of the play was as follows:

Major O'Gallagher of 41st Lancers. Percy Armour: Private Docherty of 41st Lancers. Theodore Horner: Herr Von Mozer, Music Master. Paul Lower: Mr. Hibbertston, a solicitor. W. F. Oswald Resigns as Manager.

W. F. Oswald, of the Gettysburg plant of the Auburn Shale Brick Co., has resigned his position as manager, resignation to be effective April 1st. Mr. Oswald has been actively interested in this plant since its organization thirteen years ago and in this time has been the secretary and treasurer of the company. During the time Mr. Oswald has had oversight of the Gettysburg plant he has done much to improve the quality of the output and has succeeded in manufacturing new varieties of bricks which were never produced here before. Mr. Oswald's efforts have brought the attention of city contractors to the superior qualities of the Gettysburg bricks over others, and have developed an excellent market. Mr. Oswald needs an extended vacation and rest after being constantly at work for a number of years and resigned for this reason. He and his family will continue to reside in Gettysburg. His successor has not been named.

Hartman Property Sold.

E. P. Wisotzkey has purchased the C. B. Hartman property on Chambersburg street at private sale and will take possession about May 1st. BUSINESS OF THE COURT

TO RESUME HEARING IN THE RUNKLE WILL CASE.

Lower Court Reversed in Eline Case —Petition for Rehearing in York Springs License Case.

In the appeal to the Supreme Court in case of Eline vs. Western Maryland Railway Company, an opinion has been handed down by the higher Court reversing the lower Court. Annie K. Eline had been refused jurisdiction because the accident which resulted in the death of her husband happened in York county and where the principal office of the company in this State is maintained. The plaintiff contended that she had the right to bring suit in any county in State in which the railway company did business. This latter position the Supreme Court sustains and allows a precedendo, or right to go ahead with her case. J. D. Swope, Esq., for plaintiff, and C. S. Duncan, Esq., for defendant.

Register of Wills Gardner will take up the hearing in Runkle will contest on Thursday, April 13, in the Law Library Room, Court House. The Register in December decided that Col. Wm. Runkle had established his relationship to the deceased Anna Runkle, and that the burden was on Mrs. Ertter to prove that the execution of the will was fair, conscientious and beyond the reach of suspicion and not the product of undue influence and that the testimony to prove this had not been produced. It was supposed that after this decision an appeal to the Court would follow. Instead Mrs. Ertter asks to be allowed to offer testimony in rebuttal to sustain the will of which she is the beneficiary. The hearings will likely attract much interest.

At a session of the Court on Monday petitions were presented for a rehearing of York Springs Hotel license applications. It is alleged that there were not sufficient qualified electors on the petition of Irvin E. Weaver who was granted a license at the Central Hotel and a rehearing is asked for this reason. At the same time Charles A. Hamilton, who was refused license at the York Springs Hotel, asked a rehearing in his case alleging that the Court was without power to grant license to Weaver on account of the question of the signers. Mr. Hamilton also calls attention to the fact that the question of necessity for one license in the borough has been passed upon. The Court took the two petitions under advisement.

R. E. Sprengle was allowed a transfer of the license at the Sunday House, East Berlin, upon his surrender of his license at the Shaeffer House in that borough.

Decree of divorce was granted in the case of Genevieve Pettr vs. Francis R. Peters, both of Fairfield. Desertion was charged.

Divorce proceedings were begun by Ella R. Sentz against Ernest R. Sentz. Desertion is alleged. A subpoena was awarded returnable April 28th.

C. W. Stoner, Esq., was appointed a commissioner to take testimony in the divorce case of E. Elizabeth Musselman vs. Clarence J. Musselman.

The account of Mary C. Bair, guardian of J. Emory Bair, was confirmed, and the petitioner discharged.

Report of Charles E. Stahle, auditor in the estate of Harvey Good, of which C. C. Bream and Lewis D. Sell were the assignees was filed and confirmed.

First and final account of John D. Lippy, executor of the estate of William T. Ziegler, assignee of M. S. Yohe, was confirmed.

Account of P. C. Smith, assignee in the estate of Leah and Ellsworth King, filed and confirmed absolutely.

FULLY READY FOR SPRING WITH A GREATER STOCK THAN EVER BEFORE—MOSTLY AT OLD PRICES

There is a Bonifide Reason, for the high prices ruling today in all commodities. You have heard all about it, but it has not yet touched your purse in the buying of Dry Goods if you came here for them, for the reason that we tried to forestall price advances by heavy orders whenever old prices, or near it, could be had. But we are now at the limit, as to quantity of stock we can carry and getting anything on new orders, except at present day prices, or what the wholesaler calls "At Value". We advise you to take advantage of our present prices on stock contracted for at, or near the old prices.

The P. Centemeri & Co. Lines

We are pleased to be able to say that they have taken excellent care of us in the matter of keeping us stocked in sizes and kinds in the same former qualities—and, except in one instance we have made no advance in price. A full and complete stock of colors and sizes for Easter now, but owing to the great demand for this period, and scarcity in Importers' hands, we suggest early purchase for fear of disappointment at the last moment.

Umbrellas—Under Value

Last Fall we bought an unusual quantity of Umbrellas under the advance price "squeeze". We know if we tried to buy the same kinds now we would have to pay more for them. Except for three small factories in the United States all Umbrella frames were made in the War Country, and it is represented to us that these "Small Factories" have been for some time operating on Munitions, and up goes the price of handles and frames. All cloths, especially dyed cloths, are much higher. We are offering this lot at exactly the same prices that we asked for the same grades a year ago. Ladies and Mens sizes and handles, and because of the great number of our stock prices are even less for some grades than formerly.

For many years London has been steadily drained of her gold by India. In ten years India has absorbed from circulation 1,000,000 gold sovereigns and hoarded them away. The coolie has heard that silver rupees are a poor investment, especially if he melts them into articles or a gold ring for his wife, as over 20 per cent of the silver is lost in the melting pot, while the gold sovereign preserves its value whether he keeps it as a coin or melts it. When a coolie collects 15 rupees surplus he buys a sovereign with it. He has come to understand the wisdom of hoarding away only the gold coin, which he knows he can always realize on at its original value.

A FEW AGRICULTURAL NOTES

PLANS FOR STATE-WIDE CORN AND APPLE SHOW.

Other Problems of Our Farmers Considered by the State's Experts.

Plans are now being made by the Department of Agriculture to hold a State-wide corn and apple show at Harrisburg next January in connection with the meeting of the State Board of Agriculture and the allied State associations organized for the promotion of agriculture.

It is proposed to ask the co-operation of the county fair associations by having them interest their exhibitors of corn and apple products to reserve all their premium exhibits to be placed in competition at the State show.

These plans were presented by Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton to the meeting of the State Association of County Fairs at Harrisburg. In his discussion Secretary Patton outlined the plans of the Department of Agriculture to have every local fair prize winner place his exhibit at the State show in a class to be known as the County Fair Prize Winners' Class. To enter this class of corn and apple growers throughout the State must first interest themselves in their local fairs and become prize winners at those places before they are eligible for the State show, and State premiums.

Special prizes will be awarded to the fair associations producing the most meritorious exhibits. Individual premiums be given for the best exhibits of corn and apples.

In the case of fruit exhibits arrangements are being made for cold storage reservation so that when the fruit is harvested the exhibit can be selected and placed in cold storage until the time of the State show.

In addition to the County Fair Prize Winners' Class, there will be an individual class open to all producers of the State. The sweepstakes prize in each class will be of considerable value and will be contributed by persons interested in the development of the agriculture of the State. The prizes are expected to total in value over $500.

What to Feed Breeding Hens.

The poultry breeding season is here with its troubles, eggs not hatching, chicks dead in the shell and in the brooders, and many others. Those who have trouble with chicks that are weakly, and that die a few days after hatching, are urged by J. T. Campbell, one of the poultry experts of the State Department of Agriculture, to give their breeding stock as much outdoor range as possible and feed plenty of good sound whole corn. Mr. Campbell says:

"The best ration for breeding fowls is plenty of good corn, a small amount of oats and all the dried meat scrap and wheat bran the fowls want to eat. A box of ground bran, a box of charcoal and a box of crushed oyster shells where the fowls can help themselves and a good supply of green grass will give more vitality to the eggs than any other feed."

"The meat scrap and bran can be kept before the fowls where they can help themselves. They will not over eat after they have become accustomed to the food. Some persons have an idea that corn is not good for breeding hens but my experience is that hens which eat large amounts of corn transmit more vitality to the chicks than those receiving other grains."

What Does it Cost to Produce a Quart of Milk?

Manufacturers, transportation people and other business men employ expert efficiency counselors to strictly account for all items of cost production, transportation and doing business. L. W. Lighty, dairy expert of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture says that the farmer can use business methods with good results. To place the dairy on a profit-making basis, Mr. Lighty says:

"The farmer is a manufacturer and should be a business man and cannot begin too soon to do some careful cost accounting. In the production of a quart of milk enter many items of cost. The feed cost is the largest and the next is the labor cost, then follow the buildings and the cost of delivering the milk at the station or creamery. The interest and depreciation on the stock and equipment is an important item. Taxes and other miscellaneous items, six or seven in number, all help to swell the cost. Experts at Cornell University compiled cost figures obtained in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey and New York and found that the average cost of keeping a cow a year ranged from $167.67 in New York, to $163.39 in Massachusetts.

"The New Hampshire figures were obtained by keeping a strict record of twenty-six farm herds in a cow testing association for one year. The cows were above the average of the state in quality and production. The average cost of keeping a cow for a year was $147.75 and the average cost of a quart of milk from these twenty-six herds was $0.22. The higher one and a half cents a quart of milk is the same. Figures were taken from the work of the Agricultural Experiment Station herd which has better animals than the average on the farms. In Connecticut and Massachusetts respectively found the cost of a quart of milk $0.25 and $0.22, the figures also taken from the work of the Experiment Station herds. The New York figures were obtained by keeping careful records of 174 farm herds consisting of about 5,000 cows during two years. In 1912 a quart of milk cost $0.21 and in 1913 a quart cost $0.24 on the average.

"Here is something strange. In 1913 feeds were higher, labor was higher, cows were higher and yet the cost of milk dropped seven-tenths of a cent per quart. Why this change? Invariably when we begin to keep records of the production of the cows, the cost of production is reduced. So long as we keep no records, we keep boarders and not a few robber cows. Let me show you what the Cornell investigators found in 1912. An average loss was sustained by the owners of 540 cows of $4000 per cow, while the average milk production per cow was about 1,500 quarts the year through. Cows to make a profit had to produce fully twice as much milk during the year.

"Wherever and whenever we keep records of the production of our herd we find from one-third to two-thirds of the cows we feed are not making any profit and often we sustain considerable loss by keeping such individual cows. The most practical, most economical and altogether the best way to keep these records is by the organization of cow-testing associations. At a very small cost to the individual farmer, a strict accounting and record of production can be kept of every individual cow in the entire community. These neighborhood organizations have reduced the cost of milk production by nearly one-half in many communities.

"The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will send a representative into any community to explain the methods of organizing and conducting a cow-testing association and even assist in the organization, all free of charge. Simply write your wants to the Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg, Pa. The cow-testing association will reduce the cost of milk production and put the dairy on a profit-making basis."

Examine Your Peach Buds at Once.

Every Pennsylvania fruit grower who has not examined his peach, plum and apricot buds should do so at once as many have been frozen and the season's plans may have to be altered. Sheldon W. Funk, farm adviser expert on fruits has examined orchards in several of the southeastern counties of the State and declares that he was surprised to find what a great percentage of the buds have been killed. Mr. Funk says:

"All of the apricot buds together with some varieties of plum buds, that I have examined, have been destroyed entirely. In one peach orchard the buds were all killed, but in most cases the percentage of frozen buds runs from 25 to 75 per cent, depending upon the varieties, elevation and general vigor of the trees. This is of course sufficient for a good crop if no further injury is received.

"In no section that I have examined did the thermometer drop lower than four degrees below zero and I had not expected to find so much damage. There is a possibility that the excessive rainfall together with heavy cropping last summer caused the buds to go into the dormant stage in a weakened condition, but I believe that the greatest part of the damage was primarily caused by the extremely warm spells which we had this winter. The warm weather undoubtedly started sap circulation, to a certain extent, which would cause the buds to freeze at a much higher temperature than is ordinarily the case. This theory is further strengthened by the fact that where the buds are not so much exposed to the direct rays of the sun, the injury does not appear so great.

"It is time to buy your fertilizers and your arsenicals for next season, as the indications are that these materials will still increase in price. If your buds are all frozen you will want to change some of your plans and I would lose no time in making a careful examination."

Eddie Plank Talks About Himself.

Eddie Plank refuses to be counted out. He scoffs at the idea that he won't amount to much this season, and confounds his critics by the assertion that he expects to keep on pitching in the majors until he is aged 45—5 years more. He recently consented to talk about himself. Here is what he had to say:

"I've never had a sore arm, and when I quit the game it will be because I'm tired of it. I'm 40 now, but I'm going to stick in the big leagues for five more years. At 45, then, I think I'll stay at home. Pitching is a job. It must be studied by the pitcher. He must study the other fellow, the batter, and then give him what he knows he cannot hit. That's the way I've pitched for fifteen years. The fellow with the fast ball will last longer than the one with the curve. I'll pitch five fast ones to a single curve or slow ball. But the winning pitcher must have the combination. He must mix 'em to the batter. Control is the biggest point. If you can put it where you want then you'll win more games than you lose. I believe control just was natural to me. If you can keep the ball away from the 'groove' of the slugger you'll win. Benny Kauff got one real hit off me last season. It was a drive over the right field fence in St. Louis. He had me three and two and my foot slipped just when I shot the ball. It went outside and he met it. You can't fool Ty Cobb. He'll hit anything. Against Ty Cobb I just try to get him off his stride and trust to luck of my fielders. I've pitched against sluggers like Crawford, Speaker and Jackson and they are no easier to fool than Ty Cobb. I know that I have eight other fellows on the field with me. In spring training I take my time. Never a curve until after the first week and then I start my speed gradually. I believe this system has kept my arm in shape for fifteen years."

Give the Children their Chance

Can't expect the children to stand high in their classes unless they get their lessons done properly. And they can't do night study without proper light.

The best light to study by is that which beams from a Rayo Lamp filled with slow-burning Atlantic Rayolight Oil. It gleams soft, white and mellow—doesn't flicker. It's a wonderful light for studying. Won't strain the children's eyes and so they study the better. And they learn the quicker.

And you'll sew with less effort, and father will enjoy his paper the more if you keep the house generously lighted with Rayo Lamps.

Rayo Lamps are handsome—add to the appearance of any room. They're easily cleaned and last a lifetime. Your dealer can show you a full assortment of Rayo Lamps priced from $1.50 up. But to get the best light from a Rayo Lamp, you should burn

ATLANTIC Rayolight OIL

That's the kerosene that neither smokes nor smells, that burns brightly and yields a great heat, but always at a low cost; use it in every lamp in the house, in your heaters and in your oil stoves.

Atlantic Rayolight Oil is the one kerosene you can ask for by name—that never varies in quality. And so it is especially desirable for domestic purposes—for polishing furniture, for keeping away moths, for removing rust and the many other uses hundreds of housewives tell us they have found for it.

Suffragists Awaiting Campaign Instructions

Holding that their victory in 33 counties, last year, and the total of 385,348 cast for their amendment, entitles them to serious consideration by those seeking seats in the State Legislature and Congress, heads of the Pennsylvania suffragists are working upon the detail of the plan adopted at the recent state conference to place on record, concerning their attitude toward woman suffrage, every candidate who enters the May primaries.

The lists of candidates closed and their own plans completed, instructions will be sent to every suffrage organization in the State to begin action upon a concerted, State-wide activity.

It has been announced, finally, by Mrs. George B. Orady, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, that all campaigning by the suffragists will be non-partisan; that the suffragists will work for those candidates endorsing woman suffrage and oppose the candidates who announce opposition.

Already suffragists are gathering a $40,000 fund for the work contemplated and the State and stronger county organizations will aid suffragists in other districts. The keynote of the campaign will be that every voter has a right to know where every candidate stands upon equal suffrage.

SUFFRAGISTS WANT BILL RECONSIDERED

Mrs. Roessing Says the House Committee Should Vote Again

Washington. — Pointing out that members of the House Judiciary Committee who opposed woman suffrage instead of voting in the recent committee to kill the question for two years, merely voted to postpone it, Mrs. Frank M. Roessing, first vice president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, issued a statement outlining the next step in the campaign.

Because four members of the committee favorable to suffrage were absent from the meeting, an effort will be made to obtain a reconsideration in the committee.

"We want not merely a vote on the matter in committee and Congress; we want favorable action by both the committee and Congress," said Mrs. Roessing. "The action of postponement is, of course, open for a reconsideration by the committee, and the Congressional committee has already taken steps toward that end."

"Postponement by committee is not defeat of woman suffrage. There were votes enough in that particular meeting of the Judiciary Committee to have buried our amendment for two years, instead of merely delaying committee action."

"It speaks volumes for the cause of equal suffrage when men in Congress who are avowedly opposed to it refuse to defeat it."

Women Qualify for Cleanliness.

Five women inspectors for the street cleaning department of New York City were certified last week. News of their appointment is expected this week. Says the Evening Post: "This is the first time women have been certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission for the Department of Street Cleaning."

When the list was handed to Commissioner Fetherston and he learned that five women had been certified for the positions, he declared nothing suited him better.

"Women are the only persons who know the right way to clean house," said the commissioner, "and New York City is nothing more than a large, private house. With the aid of natural housecleaners I'm certain New York will in the future get a good cleaning."

The certified inspectors are Elma C. Gray, Eva Walzer, Eileen O. Ross, Anna Murphy and Helen M. McNamara. Their salary will be $1,200 a year.

Chicago Woman an Active Farmer.

A young woman who is her own commission merchant in disposing of an unusual farm crop in Chicago is Miss Elsie Shuenemann, who is part owner of a farm on which are raised Christmas greens for decorating purposes and Yuletide celebrations. Miss Shuenemann loads the stuff on a sailing vessel, ties up close to the South Water Street market, sells from the deck of the vessel, and transacts her business in a cozy office in the cabin. In something over three years, according to the Rural New Yorker, she has disposed of more than 1,000 tons of the green crop off the family farm.

When a man asked Miss Kate Derieux Blake the other day: "Don't you think a woman can gain more by her indirect influence with her husband than by voting herself?" she quickly answered: "Do you think a cake will be as good if you leave the baking powder in the can instead of putting it in the cake?" and the questioner sat down amid a general laugh.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
